SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.
RECORD OF THE OLD
GIRLS' ASSOCIATION,
OLDHAM. = = 1929-1930.

THE OLD GIRLS' ASSOCIATION.

CONSTITUTION AND RULES.

The Society shall be called the Old Girls' Association of the Oldham Hulme Grammar School for Girls.

The President shall be the acting Head Mistress of the School, and the Secretary shall be one of the members of the School Staff.

The affairs of the Association shall be conducted by a Committee consisting of the President, the Secretary, the Treasurer, and sixteen representative members, of whom one shall be elected by the Staff, fourteen shall be elected by the Old Girls, and one by the members of Form Upper VI. Of the fourteen Old Girls' representatives two shall retire annually in rotation, but they shall be eligible for re-election, and the election shall take place at the December meeting.

Members who, without good cause assigned, absent themselves from committee meetings for two consecutive years shall be considered to have resigned, and their places shall be filled at the December meeting at the end of the second year during which they were absent from the meetings.

Full members (i.e., those who are able to attend the meetings) shall pay a yearly subscription of 3s. Country members, who are not eligible to attend meetings, shall pay 2s. Both subscriptions include the Record.

All subscriptions are due in December, and may be paid at the meeting. No notices will be sent to any member whose subscription is two years in arrears.

There shall be two meetings of the Association each year—at the beginning of December, and on the first Thursday in July, with the exception that in alternate years a picnic shall take the place of the summer meeting at School.

During the last week in November each member shall send to the Secretary at least one warm, useful garment for the Hulme Charity. Clothing that has been worn if it is in good condition is acceptable.

The Record shall be issued during the spring term, and shall be sent to all members who have paid their subscriptions.

Resignation of Miss Bailey.

We little thought when we began the compilation of these notes for the Record that the first one would be the announcement of Miss Bailey's impending departure, the news of which must have come with a shock of consternation to those Old Girls who learnt it from the newspapers or the wireless news before Miss Bailey herself had an opportunity to let anyone know.

She has been appointed Head Mistress of the Queen Mary School for Girls, Lytham. It is a new school, and hers will be the interesting and responsible task of organising it and building it up from its foundation.

Miss Bailey has been in Oldham only seven years, but she has won for herself a firm place in the affection of all the members of the Old Girls' Association. From the first she has been so understanding, so sympathetic, shewing by her presence at all our meetings and at most committees that the Association counted with her, always ready with advice, practical help and encouragement when they were needed, and endearing herself to all by her unflinching tact and friendliness.

She takes with her our most sincere and affectionate wishes that she may be very happy in her new sphere, and that a full measure of success may crown her work. It will be some years before she can begin an Old Girls' Association of her own at the new school; meanwhile she hopes still to come to our meetings sometimes, and she may always count on the warmest of welcomes. Even so we shall miss her keenly, for her going means a very real loss to the Association.

Those who have nothing to do are proverbial for never having time to do anything! So you will think, if your Record is longer delayed. This time last year, I had visions of ample leisure to devote to hobbies and fancies, the hundred and one occupations that were impossible while I was still in harness; now, however, having become domesticated, I find that all sorts of new and time-devouring duties thrust themselves on me, and that the days fly as rapidly as when I worked to a time-table and a bell, with examinations rushing at express speed to meet me. But the joy of having gained a home of my own outweighs all else, though a home, as you know, is exacting in its demands, especially on a novice. My niece and I enjoy it together and help each other out to the best of our powers.

Now, what of that splendid cheque of yours? For the spending of so large a sum various schemes have offered, such as a year's visit to South Africa. I have succumbed to an even greater temptation. For years I have dreamed of a little motor car of my own, and, girls, I have it at last! I am the proud owner of a little Triumph super seven tourer, not a new one, but it is a good one. The chance of it came on my birthday, and what a thrilling birthday it was! I took my first lesson in it on April Fools' Day, and I ventured out in it alone for the first time on May 1st. Which of these omens is to be trusted?

I hope I may be proficient enough to come to the summer meeting "under my own steam" in which case you may see for yourselves. There is still some of the cheque left to meet incidental expenses, such as license, insurance, and something towards running costs for the year. If I can give my friends a lift now and then, the car will, barring accidents, give pleasure to others as well, whereas the trip to South Africa would soon be but a memory though a happy one. I do hope you all approve.

So you can imagine me returning from a run in the Old Girls' car, sinking into that most comfortable of arm chairs, the gift of the present girls, resting my head on the cushion and consulting the clock given by my own form. Tea comes in on the little trolley also provided by the Old Girls, and then I turn to the handsome sectional bookcase the present of the Staff, and take out the first volume of Jane Austen's Works presented by the Governors to admire the beautiful illuminated inscription on the fly-leaf. You must agree that everyone has been most uncommonly good to me. I wish that I could find words to thank you as I should, I can only ask you to believe that I am very grateful, for indeed I am.

The usual meetings have been held during the year with the addition of that memorable and heart-stirring gathering on July 19th. A report of each will be found on another page.

The summer meeting will be held at school as usual this year. Please keep the first Thursday in July an open date.

The Old Girls' Stall at the League of Pity Bazaar was quite a success, as we meant it to be. The sum of £5 14s. 9d., which the stall contributed towards a total of £220, proves that the effort was worth the making. If our stall did not head the list of takings, the smaller sums are not to be despised; the pence of the many can accomplish as much as the pounds of the few.

Here is an extract from the parish magazine of St. Mark's, Hulme, where our Christmas parcels go.

"Once again, as in a number of years past, we were indebted to the kindness of the girls of the Hulme Grammar School at Oldham for the gifts of toys, books and clothing, all of which help to provide happiness to the recipients. It is a kind thought which prompts this girls' school to help brighten the lives of those who live in the poorer parts of our district. We welcomed the presence of three representatives from the school, so that they were able to see for themselves how our children appreciate the kindness of the mistresses and girls of the school. If their reception was noisy it was none the less hearty."

We must not grow lax in this charity, for these people look to us each year, and we simply cannot disappoint them. Many of the older members of the O.G.A. send their parcels with unabated regularity. Will the younger members please note and copy?

Now that I can visit school only occasionally news of Old Girls does not reach me as it used. I can only urge again the old appeal, that you send in all the news you can. There is a note book on the notice board at school in which items may be entered, and the present girls will be pleased to fill in any notes if their friends among the Old Girls instruct them to do so.

Brooches, 5s., and forms for blazers may be had from the Treasurer, Mrs. Garfitt, 213, Windsor Road, or from myself, 78, Northumberland Road, Old Trafford. The blazers cost about 38s. 6d. or 48s. 6d., according to the quality chosen.

Miss Evington's Farewell

JULY 19th, 1929.

If Miss Evington had retired from the O.G.A. as well as from the staff at the end of last Summer Term, words would fail to express our dismay, and we should break down into a mere wail of regret.

Even as it is, with dear Evie still the moving spirit in the Association which she has built up, it was difficult enough to look cheerful that hot July evening, when we thought how keenly she must be feeling her departure after so many years of devoted work; when we remembered that, for many of us, the last link with our own schooldays was now to be broken. For me, at any rate, "school" will never be "school" again without Evie to keep the Fourth in order, in prep. time, of an afternoon, frowning upon the children as conscientiously as she would smile upon any Old Girl who might turn up for a word of advice or good cheer, and every one of her assembled pupils, old and young alike, must have been looking back upon similar mental pictures of the past, in which Evie was the central figure. However, if only for her sake, we all put on our best frocks and our best smiles, and strove to shun the lugubrious.

And what a crowd we were, from near and far, all come to do honour to a strong, straight, able, faithful friend! We all tried to show our affection as best we might. Miss Bailey presented her with roses in the name of the Association. Nellie Johnson and Freda Nutter sang, Edith Ashton recited, Nellie Newton played to her. Then we all retired to consume the most scrumptious refreshments specially provided by the Committee; but we had lumps in our throats and couldn't enjoy our trifle thinking how shaken Evie must be feeling, though she was putting a brave face on it, as was always her way in times of trial.

After that we settled down in the new Hall (so strange in the eyes of most of us I fear), and Miss Bailey presided, with her unflinching tact and charm, over a Ceremony of Presentation and Farewell. Four of us, representing pupils of different ages and types, spoke of our schooldays with Evie, paying tribute in our various ways to a beloved and inspiring teacher. Then Susan Rothwell, who was in Miss Evington's Form when she joined the staff, and has never broken contact, made a presentation in the name of the Old Girls' Association. There was a cheque for £124 10s. 0d. in a leather notecase beautifully designed and made by Alice Watson (Mrs. Lees), there was a tea-trolley for the new home; there was a book with our unworthy names inscribed in it. We must all have shared an uneasy feeling that these were small things compared with all that she has done for us, and richly earned. But Evie rose and made us a fine sensible speech, just like herself, setting aside her emotion for the sake of us all, and striking as if by instinct the right note of thankfulness for the past and cheerfulness for the future.

Then we joined together in a great circle and sang "Auld Lang Syne," as we had never sung it before. And so we took leave of a dear and respected teacher; but our old friend still remains with her Old Girls, the friend of all and the connecting link between those of different eras who can hardly know each other but know her and come back, year after year, to greet her. Long may they find her in our midst.

B. MARTLAND.

THE PICNIC.

On Saturday, June 29th, sixty-five Old Girls with Miss Bailey and several of the staff set out from Union Street in three motor cars for an afternoon in Cheshire. After passing the inevitable bricks and mortar between Oldham and Stockport, we found ourselves at last in the country.

Our first halt was at Prestbury, that charming old-world village. We visited the church and the old Norman porch dating from about 1190 set a little back from the church; in the church-yard we saw also the fragments of an old Saxon cross with its runic carving, carefully preserved under glass. Opposite the church is the picturesque Old Priests' House, a beautiful black and white building.

From Prestbury we went to Gawsworth, by some considered one of the prettiest spots in Cheshire. The church is prettily reflected in the fishponds and sheltered by a grove of fine trees; it contains curious monuments to members of the Fitton family. Opposite the Church is the Rectory, and, near by, Gawsworth Old Hall, two fine examples of the black and white buildings for which Cheshire is famous.

Our main objective, however, was Moreton Old Hall, quite one of the most interesting half timber houses in the country. To enter, we crossed the moat which completely surrounds the hall, pass under the old gatehouse, and find ourselves in the courtyard where no one could fail to be struck by the two remarkable and very beautiful bay windows surmounted by gables. There is a quaintly carved inscription above one of them "Richarde Dale Carpeder made this window by the Grace of God." We passed through the great hall with its treasures of old furniture and pewter to the wainscoted rooms beyond where tea was served. We fetched our milk from the dairy and our bread and butter from the big kitchen where we saw the great spice chest and an ancient table. We looked into the tiny Chapel, perhaps the oldest part of the building, and we mounted to the gallery or ballroom where they say that Good Queen Bess danced. We made friends with the dogs, and took many photos one of which, was a group taken and afterwards enlarged by Miss Mitchell.

On our way back we drew up for a few moments at Astbury. It was too late to see the interior of the Church, so we had to be satisfied with seeing the weather-worn effigy of a departed Brereton in the church yard, and buying sweets at the village shop.

The return journey was not without incident; we were held up in a rather narrow lane by a collision which had just happened between a 'bus and a motor cycle. The cycle was in a parlous state indeed, but luckily nobody was hurt, for its owners (it was a lover and his lass), were spending a quiet interlude in an adjoining field when the crash occurred. We wondered how they would get home, for the cycle was quite out of commission.

We reached Oldham about 9 p.m. without mishap, and with the memory of a very delightful day. Was it "the nicest picnic we have had"? That is the verdict generally passed on each one as it comes.

THE WINTER MEETING.

When the Committee met to arrange the programme for the winter meeting, the voting was unanimous for a play, so Olive Garfitt with her usual readiness to help the cause in however trying a capacity, was persuaded to undertake the arduous and worrying task of producing the said play and finding members willing and able to enact the various rôles. The play was "The Custom House," by Leopold Montague, a happy choice, as the five or six principal parts were nearly the same length and required about the same histrionic ability. Olive had certainly cast the play admirably considering the few people available. Let me remark in passing that the Committee would be very pleased to have the names of any members interested in acting, so roll up, budding Sybil Thorndikes and Gracie Fields! There was only one month to prepare everything and all the cast were busy folk, so it was hardly suprising that the play resolved itself at times into a duologue between prompter and actor. The audience made due allowance for these shortcomings and enjoyed the performance thoroughly.

The story concerns Mr. and Mrs. Young (J. Rye & W. Holt) who are returning from their honeymoon spent in Belgium. The wife is very loth to pay duty on the lace and scent she has bought, so she packs these things together with her husband's tobacco, and dresses the result as a baby in long clothes very cleverly constructed by the property master (Alice Lees). The young couple are offered milk and motherly advice by Mrs. Brimblecombe, (P. Jackson), the baby is rescued and soothed with tender songs and words of endearment by Aunt Tryphena (L. Garfitt), sat upon by Mr. Crabbe (S. Rothwell), and finally falls to pieces in the Custom House when in the possession of Aunt Tryphena, who is arrested for smuggling. However, all comes right in the end and another pair Mr. Cotfield (D. Newton) and Miss Montrevor (N. Walton) are united. Other parts very well done were Chalker, a Custom House Officer (E. Kelsall), who also made one appearance as a porter, a Dutch passenger and a maid, both played by G. Dawson. Things had to move speedily to get through the three acts in time, and one rude member of the audience remarked that "the scene shifters were excellent anyway." Supper, the usual elections and Auld Lang Syne very nicely finished the evening.

THE SOIRÉE.

A Soirée is defined as "an evening party for friendly intercourse, accompanied by refreshments," and the one on Feb. 21st, organised by the joint committees of the O.G.A. and O.B.A. filled these conditions so well that anyone who did not find something to suit his individual taste must be hard to please.

For once the weather was kind, and we passed dry and intact through the breezy portals of the H.G.S.

Proceeding to the Hall we were received by the two Presidents, Miss Bailey and Mr. Hubert Hirst.

The fare provided was so good that it was difficult to choose whether to stay for the concert or to hurry off to the "Wanglers" in the Girls' Hall. That clever company, composed mainly of Old Hulmeians, gave a one-act play "Holed out in One," which was received with great enthusiasm, though old girls in the front rows were a little alarmed by Mr. Broadbent's stage golf, and trembled for the fate of their footlights if not their faces.

Meanwhile, in the concert, Reginald Whitehead, John Chantler and "Stainless Stephen" of B.B.C. fame were delighting another party.

The two former, whose vocal talents were enhanced by some remarkably effective eye-play (quite wasted in wireless), sang magnificently, while Stainless Stephen, who possesses a most astonishing supply of breath, sang songs and reeled off amusing patter, aptly hitting off masters and old boys to the great enjoyment of their friends. Keeping the scholastic nature of the establishment well in mind, he showed a great partiality for French and chemical formulæ, real and original.

Scientific experiments in the laboratories and parlour games supplied other diversions, which many like myself were unable to see through lack of time.

Supper was efficiently served in the dining room from 9 o'clock onwards, and from 9-30 to 10-15, and 11 to 1 a.m. Dancing in the large hall proved as attractive as usual, young and "not so young" being enticed there by the strains of the "Gethic Six," who included one or two old-fashioned polkas and waltzes for those who could dance them, and one strenuous visitor was heard yearning for a set of lancers, but did not get it.

The scene provided an interesting study of the "battle of skirts" now being waged, and many opinions on both sides could be heard.

As several guests voiced the opinion that this was the best Soirée yet held, it seems a pity that some of the most familiar faces were absent.

GAMES.

Some of the Old Girls found their way to school during the Christmas holidays for hockey and netball. They could never raise a complete team, the school team had to lend them one or two players each time, so that the play resolved itself into games rather than matches. These games were thoroughly enjoyed, and those who came played very well; if only complete teams could be got together some really good matches might be played.

BADMINTON—A club was formed last winter and proved fairly flourishing. Those who would like to join next season should apply to Miss James, who will give them the necessary information as to conditions and times for playing.

NOTES.

Those who knew Miss McHardy will be grieved to learn of her death last June. Her bright, happy nature endeared her to us all. It is sad to think that her promising career as a doctor has been so soon cut short.

Last year Miss Semmens paid a long visit to South Africa. While there she held the post of lecturer in physics at the Huguenot University, Wellington, Cape Province, an appointment which carries with it the duties of internal examiner. She attended a Senate meeting of the Universities of South Africa at Pietermaritzburg, and also read two papers at the meeting of the British Association at Capetown. She tells of travelling seven thousand miles across South Africa, and of riding in rickshaws drawn by men gorgeous with feathers, beads and painted legs. She was interested in the natives, some of whom wore blankets and beads. Pietermaritzburg with its mountains and lovely orchards, struck her as a very beautiful part of South Africa.

Bertha Martland has been co-opted by the Town Council of Oldham as member of the Committee of Public Assistance, which under the new scheme takes over the work formerly done by the Poor Law Guardians. The appointment is a worthy one; Bertha has wide experience which will be devoted to the service of her town.

In October 1928, Manchester University awarded to May Johnson the Leach Fellowship for research in medicine; this is held for one year. We regret that this was omitted from last year's Record. May is now senior surgeon at the Children's Out-patient Department, St. Mary's Hospital.

Olive Oates, at Oxford has passed the Final Honours School in History (Cl. III). She is taking the training course at the Oxford University. She enjoyed her term of student practice at the Manchester High School.

Freda Wroe last year gained 2nd Class Honours in Science (Botany) at the Manchester University. There were none placed in the 1st class.

Hannah Hardman has gained the Froebel Higher Certificate, Class II, Parts I, II and III. Last September she was appointed Kindergarten Mistress at Eothen School, Caterham Valley, Surrey, where she has a junior form, and teaches needlework and art in the junior and middle schools.

Mary Butterworth has gained the Domestic Science Diploma (Manchester) and is teaching at Crompton Central School.

Margaret Jagger is also teaching domestic science subjects at the North Chadderton Senior Elementary School.

Alice Holden and Ida Ashton have passed Part I of the Honours School in English, and Marion Slater, Part I, History at the Manchester University.

Alice Holden and Freda Wroe won their hockey colours at the Manchester University.

The School will again have its representative at Oxford, for this year's head girl, Dorothy Humphreys, has won an open exhibition to St. Hilda's College, and will go up in October.

Of those who left last year, Mary Baxter is studying science at Holloway College; Nora Cottrell, Latin at Manchester; Edith Edwards, botany at Bristol University; Dora Joslin is at the Kindergarten College, Bedford; Mary Shanks is taking French at Bangor University; Mary Schofield has been awarded a scholarship by the Oldham Education Committee, which she is holding at St. Andrew's University.

Edith Gaunt has left Liverpool, and has been appointed classical mistress at the County High School, Romford.

Marjorie Gaunt is Principal of the Domestic Science Section of the Folkestone Education Department, and teaches at the Centre.

Beth Beardmore is teaching at an open-air school in London.

Alice and Anne Wrigley have also gone to London having obtained posts in a school in the neighbourhood of Isleworth.

Annie Wallace is spending a year near Paris, as répétitrice at the Ecole de la Légion d'Honneur, Ecoen.

Ethel Neild (Mrs. Carey), after a short stay at Holland Fen, Lines., has come to Bury, her husband having been appointed to the living of St. Mark's.

Jane Greaves has had an article accepted by the Manchester Guardian; it was on "Felling a Chimney."

Isabel Shimeld is now practising as a solicitor in her father's office.

Muriel Belfield (Mrs. Houlgrave) has taken the Winander Private Hotel, Waterhead, Ambleside; it is very prettily situated at the edge of Lake Windermere. We hope her venture will prove a success.

The following who left school last year are at various Training Colleges: Marjorie Butterfield, at the Goldsmith's College; Clara Bailey and Alice Purcell, at Bingley; Marjorie Dunkerley, at Chichester; Dora Horrocks, at Hull; Enid Leach, at Southlands; Norah Lord, at Leeds; Margaret Schofield, at Cheltenham.

Kathleen Thorpe is in her father's office preparing to be an architect.

Lorna Biggin is an assistant at the Shirley Institute for research in cotton.

Annice Birtwistle is training as a nurse at the Pendlebury Hospital for Children.

Emily Wilson is in the drawing office of Measurements Ltd., Delph.

Dora Haytack is in the meter department at Ferranti's.

Annie Whittaker is at the Polytechnic School of Art, London, studying poster work and illustration.

Phyllis Dunkerley is in her father's office.

Laura Miller is in Williams Deacon's Bank, Stevenson Square. Edith Willen is in a branch of the same bank in Oldham. Audrey Tatlow is a shorthand typist in the District Bank.

Kathleen Robson is clerk to the Medical Officer of Health in Oldham.

Nancy Collins, after a course at the Manchester School of Commerce has a post in the L.M.S. Offices, Hunt's Bank, Manchester. Margaret Wright and Nancy Kerby are at Loreburn College. Sylvia Graham and Eileen Brierley are at Hilton's Commercial School.

Phyllis Kay has obtained a post in a school at Leeds. She will begin work in September.

Nellie Bradley is teaching at a school near Huddersfield.

Ethel Harrison has gained a 2nd Class in Millinery at the Oldham Technical College.

Edith Ogden is studying music, chiefly the piano.

Hilda Lloyd is teaching at the Doctor Lane School, Scouthead.

Jean Carson is now at St. Thomas's Hospital, London.

Nora Carson has a post as poultry instructress at Aldersey Hall, near Chester.

Nora Pennington has gained strength enough to begin a little business of her own at home; she makes cakes, biscuits, jam and toffee.

Winifred Brierley is reception clerk at Messrs. F. R. Witham & Co., Coachbuilders, Oldham.
