"Linden Lea" Vaughan Williams
 (A Dorset Folk Song.)

Within the woodlands, flow'ry gladed,
 By the oak trees' mossy moot,
 The shining grass blades, timber shaded,
 Now do quiver under foot;
 And the birds do whistle overhead,
 And water's bubbling in its bed,
 And there for me, the apple tree
 Do lean down low in Linden Lea.

When leaves, that lately were a-springing,
 Now do fade within the copse,
 And painted birds do hush their singing,
 Up upon the timber tops;
 And brown leaved fruit's a-turning red,
 In cloudless sunshine overhead,
 With fruit for me, the apple tree
 Do lean down low in Linden Lea.

Let other folk make money faster,
 In the air of dark-room'd towns;
 I don't dread a peevish master,
 Though no man may heed my frowns.
 I be free to go abroad,
 Or take again my homeward road,
 To where, for me, the apple tree
 Do lean down low in Linden Lea.

W. BARNES.

"Five Eyes"Armstrong Gibbs

In Hans' old mill his three black cats
 Watch the bins for theiving rats.
 Whisker and claw they crouch in the night,
 Their five eyes smouldering green and bright:
 Squeaks from the flour sack, squeaks from where
 The cold wind stirs on the empty stair,
 Squeaking and scamp'ring, ev'rywhere.
 Then down they pounce, now in, now out.
 At whisking tail, and snuffing snout;
 While lean old Hans he snores away
 Till peep of light at break of day;
 Then up he climbs to his creaking mill,
 Out come his cats all grey with meal—
 Jekkel, and Jessup, and one-eyed Jill.

WALTER DE LA MARE.

"The Forge" Brahms

My true love I hear,
 His hammer upswinging,
 His anvil is ringing,
 My heart he rejoices,
 It sounds like glad voices
 Of chimes strong and clear.

He stands 'mid the smoke,
 His arm high uptossing,
 When by I am passing
 The furnace is roaring,
 The sparks high up-soaring,
 Then fast flies his stroke.

"Who is Sylvia" Schubert

Who is Sylvia, What is she,
 That all our swains commend her?
 Holy, fair and wise is she;
 The Heav'n's such grace did lend her,
 That adored she might be.

Is she kind, as she is fair?
 For beauty lives with kindness:
 To her eyes love doth repair,
 To help him of his blindness;
 And being help'd inhabits there.

Then to Sylvia let us sing,
 That Sylvia is excelling,
 She excels each mortal thing
 Upon the dull earth dwelling,
 To her garlands let us bring.

"ALLISON'S LAD."
